

IRS Benefit Plan Limits for 2023

Presented by Warren Wealth Associates

On October 21, 2022, the Internal Revenue Service released Notice 2022-55, announcing cost-of-living adjustments that affect contribution limits for retirement plans and retirement accounts in 2023. The list below, though not exhaustive, highlights key changes that retirement plan sponsors should be aware of, as well as several limitations that remain unchanged from 2022:

- The elective deferral limit will increase from $20,500 to $22,500.
- The catch-up contribution limit for employees ages 50 and older will increase from $6,500 to $7,500.
- The aggregate contribution limit for defined contribution plans will increase from $61,000 to $66,000.
- The annual compensation limit will increase from $305,000 to $330,000.
- The limitation on the annual benefit under a defined benefit will increase from $245,000 to $265,000. (For a participant who separated from service before January 1, 2023, the limitation for defined benefit plans under Section 415(b)(1)(B) can be computed by multiplying the participant's compensation limitation, as adjusted through 2022, by 1.0833.)
- The dollar limit used in the definition of "key employee" in a top-heavy retirement plan will increase from $200,000 to $215,000, and the dollar limit used in the definition of "highly compensated employee" will increase from $135,000 to $150,000.

The following table displays 2022 and 2023 limits for a host of tax breaks:

401(k) Plan Limits for Plan Year	2022 Limit	2023 Limit
